His Life was on a Cliff Edge

By Jonathan S Harvey

His Life Was An Open Book

A man walking to Golden Cap, Dorset on a winter's day comes to the aid of a woman who is assisting an unconscious man who has no identification. Delayed, and with a sudden change of wind direction the three are captured in a vicious snowstorm. They are forced together but who are they really and what are they doing in a remote area on the hills of the highest cliff on the English south coast? The truth may not be revealed until the conclusion.

This is the first in a series of short crime thriller stories set in Dorset, each about 5,000 words. I have two published novels, "His Life was a Lie" and "His Life was Revenge" with my third, "His Life was in Jeopardy" in progress.
